CROOK CAUGHT AT LAST

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—After a chase of 25,000 miles, reaching from San Francisco and other California cities to Chicago, New York, Detroit, Cuba, Honolulu and back to Chicago, Robert Curry, alleged swindler, was captured today in the Chicago post-office by Detectives McGinnis and Ellsworth. He is accused of swindles in California amounting to more than $10,000. For months he eluded detectives employed by the National Bankers' association. A letter written by a woman friend, however, proved his undoing, and when he went to claim it at the general delivery window he found detectives waiting for him.

Among his victims are the Oakland bank of Oakland, $3000; National bank, San Francisco, $7000; Farmers' Union bank, San Jose, $2500. The prisoner's scheme it is alleged was to learn the names of big depositors in various banks and then forge their names to checks.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Fred Dorr, the New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles broker, who recently failed with liabilities approximating half a million and assets totaling but a small portion of that amount, has solved a plan of settlement whereby he is to resume business with his creditors as his business partners. He offers to pay in full all prior claims amounting to about $6,000 and make a 25 per cent payment in cash on his whole indebtedness, the remainder to be settled from the profits of his business after resumption. It is said that a number of large creditors, despairing of any other satisfactory settlement, favor accepting Dorr's proposition.
